SUNCORP MARKET UPDATE

Suncorp today announced its preliminary expected results for the six months to 31 December 2008, and outlined initiatives to provide significant additional capital buffers against further deterioration in economic conditions.

The Group's first half results demonstrated the resilience of each of its business lines in difficult market conditions:

- the Bank achieved strong underlying profit growth offset by higher impairment charges;
- in General Insurance, healthy gross written premium growth was impacted by weather events costing more than the Group's normal allowances and widening credit spreads; and
- Wealth Management's underlying profit was supported by strong life risk sales.

The guidance provided in this update is subject to finalisation of the Group's financial statements, and completion of the review by external auditors. As such, actual results for the six months to 31 December 2008 may differ from the guidance contained in this update.

The guidance is also subject to the reinsurance recoveries available from the storms that affected south-east Queensland in November 2008, a matter the Group is working to finalise before its half year results announcement on 24 February 2009.

Suncorp is of the view that reinsurance recoveries relating to these storms of approximately $73 million¹ are available under the Group's catastrophe cover program although, where relevant, the impact on earnings should a minimum reinsurance recovery outcome occur has also been clearly indicated.

For further details, please refer to 'Important Notes' at the end of this update.

Group result

- Underlying business performance resilient; conservatively managing capital

Suncorp expects that Group profit before tax and Promina acquisition items for the six months to 31 December 2008 will be in the range of $470 to $500 million². Net profit after tax, Promina acquisition items and minority interests is expected to be in the range of $250 to $270 million³.

¹ Based on current forecast of expected gross claims costs.

² Group profit before tax and Promina acquisition items is expected to be in the range of $410 million to $440 million if Suncorp's reinsurance position is not accepted by all reinsurers.

³ Net profit after tax, Promina acquisition items and minority interest is expected to be in the range of $210 million to $230 million if Suncorp's reinsurance position is not accepted by all reinsurers.

NEWS RELEASE

Chief executive John Mulcahy said underlying performance for the half year demonstrated the measures Suncorp's businesses put in place to withstand further deterioration in the economic climate have been appropriate.

Mr Mulcahy also said that, given ongoing volatility in the global financial sector, it was important the Group continued to conservatively manage its capital position and took a prudent approach to bad debt provisioning.

Preliminary unaudited results for the Group's businesses for the six months to 31 December 2008 were:

Banking

- Strong underlying profit growth offset by significantly higher impairment charges

The Bank's profit before tax for the six months to 31 December 2008 is expected to be in the range of $90 to $100 million with strong underlying profit growth expected to be offset by significantly higher impairment charges.

Profit before tax and impairment charges is expected to be in the range of $445 to $455 million, well ahead of the prior corresponding period. This increase was largely attributable to higher net interest margins resulting from pricing adjustments applied to higher average receivables, as well as a focus on expense management during the half.

Lending

- Lending slowed in response to volatile market conditions

The Bank continued to adapt its strategy to help counter worsening market conditions and significant fluctuations in the cost of funding.

The decision to reduce lending in non-core segments, along with the slowing in the Australian economy, resulted in lending growth slowing over the six months to 31 December 2008. Gross loans, advances and other receivables finished the half at just over $55 billion.

Accordingly, as the Bank continues its strategy of focusing predominantly on core segments, total lending is expected to be flat for the year to 30 June 2009.

Retail/wholesale funding

- Balance sheet strengthened by strong deposit gathering and term debt raisings above previous forecasts

A focus on deposit gathering, particularly from business customers, increased total retail funding to over $23 billion at 31 December 2008, an increase of more than 10% over the 31 December 2007 total.

Suncorp raised approximately $5 billion of three-year term debt over the six months to 31 December 2008, well above the previously forecast $3.0 billion to $3.5 billion required to fund asset growth and satisfy term maturities for the 2008/09 financial year.

NEWS RELEASE

As a result of these initiatives, the weighted average term of balance sheet liabilities (including securitisation) increased to 0.98 years at 31 December 2008, compared to 0.69 years at 30 June 2008.

Additionally, the Bank raised $1.2 billion in a five-year benchmark transaction during January 2009 and will continue to seek opportunities to further strengthen the balance sheet by raising term debt.

Net interest income

- Improved margins

Suncorp's margins improved over the half year as the Bank passed on additional funding costs and repriced for risk to reflect market conditions. The net interest margin for the six months to 31 December 2008 was 1.84%, up from 1.81% for the six months to 30 June 2008. The margin was also favourably impacted by the fall in the spread of the bank bill swap rate (BBSW) over the cash rate.

Expenses

- Operating expenses flat against June 2008

The Bank's expenses are likely to be in the range of $290 to $300 million for the half year. First half expenses included $25 million in restructuring costs, largely as a result of the merging of the retail and business divisions. The cost to income ratio for the first half is expected to be approximately 40%.

Bad debts

- Significantly increased due to impact of ongoing economic deterioration on impaired assets and property valuations; prudent approach to provisioning

It is expected the Bank's first half bad debt expense will rise to $355 million, significantly above previous forecasts. This includes a charge of $177 million for increased specific provisions and write-offs and a total increase of $171 million in the collective provision.

The Group's specific provision increase included a $79 million provision for Babcock & Brown, where Suncorp is one of 25 members in the consortium of lenders.

Specific provisions were also increased for previously identified exposures, including Raptis, Sunleisure and a south east Queensland property developer, as a result of ongoing reviews of property valuations, which became apparent in December and into the New Year.

The Group increased its collective provision by $171 million. This included $96 million to reflect increased watch list balances following an ongoing portfolio credit review process. In addition, a $75 million allowance was included in the collective provision as an economic overlay to reflect ongoing economic deterioration.

Ignoring the economic overlay, the bad debt write-offs in the first half were 50 basis points on gross loans and advances.

NEWS RELEASE

As a result of the additional provisioning, the ratio of total impairment provisions (excluding the general reserve for credit losses) to total loans has increased to 86 basis points, from 28 basis points in June 2008.

In the three months to 31 December 2008, impaired assets increased to $986 million from $788 million (as reported to the market on 24 November 2008). $133 million of this increase was attributable to Babcock & Brown.

General Insurance

- GWP growth offset by weather events and accounting treatments

The General Insurance business is expected to achieve a before tax contribution of $240 to $260 million⁴ for the six months to 31 December 2008.

The half year result featured healthy gross written premium (GWP) growth offset by a series of major weather events that cost more than the Group's normal allowances.

The result was also affected by a number of accounting issues including widening credit spreads, which created mark to market losses across the Group's approximately $8 billion technical reserves portfolio. This is purely a timing issue and will reverse as fixed interest investments mature or as credit spreads narrow.

This is expected to result in a reported first half insurance trading ratio (ITR) in the range of 4.5% to 5.5%⁵, including integration benefits.

Gross Written Premiums (GWP)

- Healthy growth in gross written premiums; all brands continue to perform strongly

GWP increased to approximately $3.3 billion for the six months to 31 December 2008, up 5.9% over the prior corresponding period. Contributors to this increase were home insurance (up approximately 9%), motor insurance (up approximately 4%) and commercial insurance (up approximately 9%).

Personal lines premium increases introduced following recent severe weather activity have not resulted in any significant increase in customer attrition, although some customers are responding to the slowing economy and premium increases by raising their excesses. All brands continue to perform strongly.

The commercial lines premium increase demonstrates the hardening of both short and long tail classes.

⁵ The General Insurance ITR is likely to be in the range of 3% to 4% if Suncorp's reinsurance position is not accepted by all reinsurers.

NEWS RELEASE

Storms and reinsurance

- First half event costs ahead of allowances

Following detailed analysis of weather systems and expert meteorological advice in relation to the south-east Queensland storms, Suncorp is of the view that reinsurance recoveries of approximately $73 million are available under the Group's catastrophe cover program.

This position has received support from a majority of the reinsurance panel, although one reinsurer disputes Suncorp's analysis and calculation of available recoveries.

The minimum reinsurance recovery of $13 million would result in a $60 million negative impact on the Group's profit before tax for the half year. Under this scenario, however, the Group would be closer to triggering its aggregate reinsurance cover which starts at $250 million.

Suncorp's meteorological advice, if accepted by all reinsurers, would result in the following net claims costs:

Event	Cost net of reinsurance recoveries (A$m)
New Zealand – July	15
Ipswich – September	30
Gold Coast/Byron Bay – October	10
South East Queensland (16 -21 November)	125
Total	180

Although, the final reinsurance outcome of the storms events is still being finalised, the total costs under either scenario are well above the Group's allowance for major weather events of $120 million per half year.

Long-tail claims expense

- Claims provision offset by current accident period and risk margins strains

During the six months to 31 December 2008, discount rates reduced dramatically. As a result of these changes, the valuation of outstanding claims increased by approximately $550 million with a corresponding notional increase in the capital value of matched fixed interest investments.

Actuarial calculations are currently being finalised but it is anticipated central estimate releases from the outstanding claims provision will be offset by current accident period and risk margins strains.

Consistent with widespread forecasts for a slowing Australian economy in the coming years, Suncorp has reduced its assumption for wage inflation to 4.0% from 4.5%. This resulted in a benefit of around $80 million.

NEWS RELEASE

General insurance technical reserve portfolios are likely to return between $180 and $200 million. This result was negatively impacted by around $200 million due to the significant increase in credit spreads and the impact on mark-to-market valuations in the fixed interest portfolio.

The General Insurance shareholders funds, which eliminated exposure to equity investments during the first quarter of 2008/09, are likely to generate a return of approximately $150 million.

Wealth Management

- Strong life risk sales and expense management

The Wealth Management business' contribution after tax for the six months to 31 December 2008 is expected to be in the range of $120 to $140 million.

Key contributors to this result were strong life risk sales and expense management, offset by falling funds under management. The impact of falling equity markets was largely offset by the reduction in discount rates.

Integration

- Synergy realisation ahead of schedule

Integration of the Suncorp and Promina businesses remains firmly on track. Synergy realisation is expected to remain ahead of schedule as at 31 December 2008, while costs are in line with previous estimates.

Additional capital buffers

- Capital position strengthened by capital raising, reduced dividends and prudent provisioning

Based on preliminary expected results for the six months to 31 December 2008 (and prior to the initiatives referred to above), the Tier 1 ratio is likely to be around 8.8% with a capital adequacy ratio of 10.7%. The ACE ratio is expected to be 3.9%, below the Group's internal target of 4.5% to 5.0%.

The reduction in the ACE ratio during the last three months of 2008 resulted from lower profitability caused by increased impairment charges and the impact of November's weather events in south-east Queensland.

Additionally, valuation changes in treasury assets and the increase in credit impairment provisions created a significant deferred tax asset that, although recognised for accounting purposes, had to be deducted from Suncorp's capital ratios. The reduction in Suncorp's capital ratios attributable to the deferred tax asset was around 0.5%.

Suncorp today announced a strengthening of its balance sheet through two capital management initiatives:

- A reduction in dividends; and
- A minimum $900 million capital raising.

NEWS RELEASE

Dividends

The Board intends to declare an interim dividend of 20 cents per share fully franked. It is also targeting a final dividend of 20 cents per share fully franked, subject to the Group achieving its forecast earnings guidance and any necessary regulatory approvals.

Chairman John Story said the Board's intention to reduce the interim and full year dividends, along with the proposed capital raising, would further strengthen the Group's capital position and help ensure its capital ratios remained above the levels now expected by the market.

Mr Story said, "The Board acutely understands the impact that a reduced dividend payment will have on our shareholders. We arrived at the decision after much debate and discussion, convinced that it was appropriate in the current economic circumstances. It will place the Group in a substantially enhanced position."

Capital raising

Suncorp intends to launch an equity raising that will raise a minimum $900 million via:

- a $390 million underwritten placement;
- a 1 for 5 accelerated non-renounceable entitlement offer ("Entitlement Offer"), of which the underwritten institutional component ("Institutional Offer") will raise approximately $410 million; and
- the underwriting of the 1H09 dividend reinvestment plan ("DRP") up to $100 million⁶.

The retail component of the Entitlement Offer ("Retail Offer") will raise up to approximately $502 million. The underwritten DRP component of the raising will be reduced dollar for dollar with participation in the Retail Entitlement Offer. This means that the DRP underwrite will not proceed if take-up under the Retail Entitlement Offer is greater than $100 million. The Retail Offer is not underwritten.

The Offer is being conducted at a fixed price of $4.50 ("Offer Price"):

- Represents a 35% discount to the closing price of Suncorp's shares on Australian Securities Exchange ("ASX") on 4 February 2009.

The Record Date for the Entitlement Offer will be 7.00pm (AEDT) on Tuesday 10 February 2009.

Eligible Shareholders are invited to participate on a pro rata basis by subscribing for 1 Suncorp ordinary share ("New Shares") for every 5 Suncorp ordinary shares owned on the Record Date at the Offer Price ("Entitlement").

⁶ The underwriting agreements include a number of termination events, including material disruptions in financial conditions or markets.

NEWS RELEASE

The Entitlements are non-renounceable and will not be tradeable on ASX or otherwise transferable. Shareholders who do not take up their Entitlements in full will not receive any value in respect of those Entitlements that they do not take up.

Shareholders who are not eligible to receive Entitlements will not receive any value in respect of those Entitlements that they would have received had they been eligible. Any New Shares not taken up in the Institutional Offer will be offered to certain investors in selected jurisdictions.

All New Shares issued will be fully paid and rank equally with existing Suncorp shares on issue, except that they will not be eligible for any interim dividend declared in respect of the period to 31 December 2008. New Shares issued under the Institutional Offer will trade as a separate ex-dividend class until Friday 27 February 2009.

Suncorp expects to announce the outcome of the placement and Institutional Offer to the market prior to the start of trading on Monday 9 February 2009, with trading expected to recommence at commencement of trading on ASX on 9 February 2009.

Further details relating to the Entitlement Offer can be found in Annexure A.

Eligible retail Shareholders wishing to participate in the Retail Offer will receive information shortly.

The capital raising will also result in an adjustment being made to the Issue Date VWAP under the terms of the CPS. An announcement on this will be made in due course.

Impact of the initiatives

Following the capital management initiatives announced today (further details of which are included below), it is expected the Group's ACE ratio will be approximately 6.0%, Tier 1 ratio approximately 10.9%, and a CAR of approximately 12.8%, well above the Group's internal targets and regulatory requirements.

Mr Story said, "These initiatives will result in conservative capital ratios that provide substantial buffers against future volatility. As a consequence, we are confident that each of our banking, general insurance and wealth management businesses will be well equipped to withstand the current challenging environment."

Outlook

At the macro level, Suncorp expects conditions will remain challenging and economic activity subdued over the short to medium term.

In the Bank, it is expected that reduced economic activity, combined with a strategy of refocussing on higher value relationship portfolios and actively running off non-core portfolios, will result in gross loans advances and other receivables continuing to slow over the remainder of the 2008/2009 financial year and throughout 2009/2010.

NEWS RELEASE

The Group now expects lending growth to be flat compared to the 2007/08 year. Beyond that, the pace of balance sheet contraction will be determined by the extent of refinancing opportunities available across the industry.

The Bank is on track to achieve its full year forecast growth in profit before tax and impairment charges in the high teens. However, a combination of moderating economic growth, higher average funding costs and portfolio realignment and contraction will lead to reduced revenues in the 2009/10 year.

The Bank's expenses will continue to benefit from the structural changes implemented during the first half and ongoing tight controls over discretionary spending.

The depth and pace of economic deterioration and the offsetting effect of Government stimulus continue to make forecasting impairment charges extremely difficult. As stated at the Group's 24 November 2008 market update, any forecasting of full year bad debt expense at this stage of the economic cycle – whilst informed by thorough review and evaluation – is subject to change.

Therefore, based on the Group's most recent analysis, its current forecast is that full year bad debt expense for the year to 30 June 2009, including the provision for Babcock & Brown and the additional economic overlay, will be in the range of 100 – 130bps of gross loans, advances and other receivables.

In General Insurance, Suncorp expects growth in gross written premiums will be in the previously forecast range of 4% - 6% for the year to 30 June 2009. While it is impossible to predict the frequency and severity of major weather events during the second half, the Group's reinsurance programs will support earnings should weather events exceed usual allowances.

Assuming weather events remain within normal allowances in the second half and no further widening of credit spreads, the Group is forecasting a second half ITR in the 10% - 12 % range, including integration benefits.

Wealth Management will continue to be impacted by volatile fixed interest and equity markets. Although it is difficult to anticipate with any certainty the full year result for Wealth Management, Suncorp continues to target a flat underlying profit after tax for this financial year when compared to the 2007/08 year.

The Board's intention is to declare an interim dividend of 20 cents per share fully franked and it is targeting the same amount for the final dividend, subject to achieving its forecast profit guidance and any necessary regulatory approvals.

Beyond the current financial year, the Board is targeting a dividend payout ratio of 50% to 60% of cash earnings. Any dividend guidance is subject to the capital requirements of the business, regulatory approvals and general business and economic conditions.

NEWS RELEASE

Important Notes

The Group remains in discussions with its panel of reinsurers regarding the treatment of the storms that impacted areas of south-east Queensland in the week commencing 16 November 2008.

Following detailed analysis of weather systems and expert meteorological advice, Suncorp is of the view that reinsurance recoveries of approximately $73 million⁷ are available under the Group's catastrophe cover program.

While this position has received support from a majority of the reinsurance panel, one reinsurer disputes Suncorp's analysis and calculation of available recoveries. Suncorp expects to resolve this dispute by the time the Group presents its half year results on 24 February 2009.

For the purposes of this update, Suncorp has assumed reinsurance recoveries based on an assumption the Group's position will be adopted by the full reinsurance panel.

If the minimum reinsurance recovery of $13 million is adopted (contrary to what is accepted by the majority of reinsurers), it would result in a $60 million negative impact on the Group's profit before tax for the half year. Under this scenario, however, the Group would be closer to triggering its aggregate reinsurance cover which starts at $250 million.

If these provisions are inadequate there may be an adverse impact on Suncorp's financial performance and position

Funding and liquidity risk

Banks and other financial institutions (including Suncorp) are currently subject to highly volatile credit market conditions. This volatility may result in (amongst other things):

- a reduction in the availability of markets from which to raise funds;
- an increase in the cost of funding and more onerous lending conditions; and
- an increase in potential counterparty default.

NEWS RELEASE

Suncorp accesses credit markets for a variety of funding sources as part of its operations. This access is supported by the recent initiatives of the Federal Government on deposits and wholesale funding. Continued volatility, further deterioration in credit markets or withdrawal of the Federal Government support may adversely impact the financial performance and position of Suncorp.

Catastrophes

Through its general insurance businesses, Suncorp is subject to claims arising from catastrophes caused by various events, including cyclones, earthquakes, tsunami, wind, hail, fires, floods, volcanic activity and bushfires, in addition to man-made disasters. These events are inherently unpredictable in terms of their incidence and severity.

The extent of insured losses from catastrophes is determined by the total amount of insured exposure in the area affected by the event and the severity of the event. While Suncorp manages its exposure to catastrophes through the purchase of catastrophe reinsurance, Suncorp cannot be assured that such coverage will be adequate or will continue to be available at acceptable levels or at all.

Estimation of claims provisions

Suncorp's provisions for its insurance liabilities may prove to be inadequate to cover its ultimate liability under policies written by its insurance subsidiaries. Within its general insurance subsidiaries Suncorp maintains provisions to cover the estimated ultimate liability for claims, and within its life insurance subsidiary provisions for future policy benefits.

Although Suncorp seeks to maintain outstanding claims provisions in its general insurance subsidiaries at a probability of adequacy of approximately 90%, actual future events and conditions may result in the current estimates of claims costs being inadequate.

Moreover, additional costs of claims which cannot currently be foreseen, including costs arising from changes in the legal environment, may emerge in the future. Insufficient provisions for insurance liabilities could have a material adverse effect on Suncorp's financial condition, results of operations and cash flows.

Investment income

Suncorp has a significant investment portfolio that supports liabilities arising from its general insurance and life insurance businesses, as well as generating a portion of Suncorp's profits. Consequently, investment performance affects the Suncorp Group's financial condition and results of operations.

The Suncorp Group's investment portfolio consists of assets which back:

- shareholder funds; and
- technical reserves, which represent assets to support outstanding claims and unearned premium liabilities.

NEWS RELEASE

The investment portfolio is managed in accordance with the Suncorp Group's investment policy. The Group's investment policy for shareholder funds and technical reserves is to invest in high quality fixed interest portfolios. There is risk, however, that adverse market volatility may effect investment.

Reinsurance

Suncorp enters into a number of reinsurance arrangements which allow Suncorp to limit its risk from particular lines of business or from specific events and to increase its capacity to write new policies.

Under these arrangements, other insurers and reinsurers assume a portion of Suncorp's exposure to reported and unreported losses in exchange for a premium. The availability, amount and cost of reinsurance depend on prevailing market conditions, in terms of price and available capacity, and may vary significantly.

There are risks involved in reinsurance in relation to availability, price, conditions of reinsurance, determination of proper levels of outwards reinsurance, dispute of reinsurance claims, collection of reinsurance receivables and default risk of reinsurance counterparties.

All of these risks may have a material adverse effect on the Suncorp Group's financial condition and results of operations.

Transaction risk

Suncorp may seek to grow in the future by merging with or acquiring other companies in the financial services industry. This may cause Suncorp to face operational and financial risks that could adversely affect Suncorp and its results of operations.

Conversely, Suncorp may seek to sell or dispose of certain businesses in the future. This may result in a change in the operations of Suncorp and cause Suncorp to face operations and financial risks that could adversely affect Suncorp's financial condition and results of operations.

Regulatory risk

Suncorp's business is subject to substantial regulatory and legal oversight. In particular, Suncorp is subject to prudential supervision by APRA, which requires Suncorp, amongst other things, to meet minimum capital requirements within its operations. Any significant regulatory developments, including changes to prudential regulatory requirements, accounting standards and tax laws, could have an adverse effect on how Suncorp conducts its business and on Suncorp's financial condition and results of operations.

Suncorp's business and earnings are also affected by the fiscal or other policies that are adopted by various regulatory authorities of the Australian government. The nature and impact of future changes in such policies are not predictable and are beyond Suncorp's control.

NEWS RELEASE

The general insurance, banking or wealth management industries could be subjected to changes or additions to existing governmental regulations that may impair Suncorp's financial performance. If Suncorp does not meet regulatory requirements, it may be subject to penalties, including fines or the suspension or cancellation of authority to conduct business. Non-compliance may also give rise to adverse publicity and damage to Suncorp's reputation.

Queensland legislation affecting Suncorp

Queensland legislation imposes certain restrictions on Suncorp including an obligation to maintain its head office in Queensland. These restrictions could potentially inhibit Suncorp's operations in the future as well as any future takeover of, or by, Suncorp.

Systems risk

General insurance and financial services businesses rely to a significant degree on information technology systems, with day-to-day operations of each aspect of business being computer based, as are the systems used to calculate and monitor underwriting risks, reserve modelling and reinsurance arrangements. Failure of such systems could result in business interruption, the loss of customers, damaged reputation and weakening of competitive position and could therefore adversely affect business and profitability.

Climate change

Climate change might lead to more significant and frequent weather related claims. Climate change may adversely impact the performance of general insurance and financial services businesses.

General risks

Market price

The market price of Suncorp shares will fluctuate due to various factors including investor perceptions, domestic and international investment markets and economic conditions, and other factors that may affect Suncorp's financial performance and position. The market price of Suncorp shares could trade on the ASX at a price below their issue price.

General economic conditions

As Suncorp conducts all of its business in Australia and New Zealand, its performance is influenced by the level and cyclical nature of business activity in Australia and New Zealand and, in particular, the State of Queensland, where its business is concentrated.

NEWS RELEASE

The Suncorp Group's business activity is also influenced by both domestic and international economic and political events. There can be no assurance that a weakening in either/or both of the Australian and New Zealand economies, and the Queensland economy in particular, will not have a material adverse effect on the Suncorp Group's financial condition and results of operations.

Interest rate risk

Adverse movements in interest rates, both in Australia and abroad, may impact Suncorp's earnings in each of the Banking, General Insurance and Wealth Management businesses.

Credit ratings

The price of Suncorp shares and Suncorp's ability to access debt at a reasonable cost may be affected downgrade to its credit ratings.

Taxation implications

Future changes in Australian taxation law including changes in interpretation or application of the law by the courts or taxation authorities in Australia, may affect taxation treatment of an investment in Suncorp shares, or the holding and disposal of those shares. Further, changes in tax law, or changes in the way tax law is expected to be interpreted, in the various jurisdictions in which Suncorp operates, may impact the future tax liabilities of Suncorp.

NEWS RELEASE

Relevant Member State at any time under the following exemptions under the Prospectus Directive, if they have been implemented in that Relevant Member State:

- (i) to legal entities that are authorised or regulated to operate in the financial markets or, if not so authorised or regulated, whose corporate purpose is solely to invest in securities;

provided that no such offer of New Shares and Entitlements will result in the requirement for the publication of a offering circular pursuant to Article 3 of the Prospectus Directive.

For the purposes of this provision, the expression an "offer of New Shares and Entitlements to the public" in relation to any New Shares and Entitlements in any Relevant Member State means the communication in any form and by any means of sufficient information on the terms of the offer and the New Shares and Entitlements to be offered so as to enable an investor to decide to purchase or subscribe for the New Shares and Entitlements, as that definition may be varied in that Relevant Member State by any measure implementing the Prospectus Directive in that Relevant Member State, and the expression "Prospectus Directive" means Directive 2003/71/EC and includes any relevant implementing measure in each Relevant Member State.

Each subscriber for or purchaser of New Shares and Entitlements in the offering located within a Relevant Member State will be deemed to have represented, acknowledged and agreed that it is a qualified investor within the meaning of Article 2(1)(e) of the Prospectus Directive ("Qualified Investor"). In the case of any New Shares and Entitlements being offered to a financial intermediary as that term is used in Article 3(2) of the Prospectus Directive, such financial intermediary will also be deemed to have represented, warranted to and agreed with the Underwriter and Suncorp that: (i) the New Shares and Entitlements acquired by it have not been acquired on behalf of, nor have they been acquired with a view to their offer or resale to, persons in any Relevant Member State other than Qualified Investors, or in circumstances in which the prior consent of the Underwriter has been obtained to each such proposed offer or resale; or (ii) where New Shares and Entitlements have been acquired by it or on behalf of persons in any Relevant Member State other than Qualified Investors, the offer of those New Shares and Entitlements to it is not treated under the Prospectus Directive as having been made to such persons. Suncorp and the Underwriter, each of their respective affiliates and others will rely upon the truth and accuracy of the foregoing representation, warranty and agreement.

Notwithstanding the above, a person who is not a Qualified Investor and who has notified Suncorp and the Underwriter of that fact in writing may, with the consent of the Suncorp and the Underwriter, be permitted to subscribe for or purchase New Shares and Entitlements.
